

CLEARING HOUSE

Applause

Interesting to note and gratifying to see is the interest that students and even faculty members are taking in the Student Union building. When Hitler burst upon the listening ears of America at 1 p. m. Monday, at least one German class was conducted to the new structure, where members of the group listened to the broadcast and were treated to honest-to-gosh translation by the instructor which always tallied with the announcer's version.

Campus Hops

"Dear Mr. Editor: Why is it that this year, despite the fact that we pay $2.00 Student Union fee, we pay twice as much to get in Campus Hops? And the bands are no better. Can't something be done about this? The Kernel is swell this year, especially columnist Andrew Eckdahl and sports editor Joe Cresson. Look into this Union mess."—F. D. W. Haven't had a chance to see any of the Union officials yet, but will. One guess we might make is that it actually costs more to give a dance in the SUB than in the Gym, because of lighting, etc.

The New Toy

Kernel staff members are all excited because it won't be long now before we have our basement retreat completed. New offices and newsrooms are now being plastered on the subterranean floor to accommodate the "artists."

Lawyer, Lawyer

"Dear Editor: Would you be so kind as to explain to the student body in general the reason why one of the current popular tunes is so very popular with the first year students of Lexington? Namely: 'There's so little time and so much to do.'—E. P. J. Perhaps Steve White could tell you. He's one of those smart Hopkinsville boys. Ha!

Those Benches Again

"In spite of all the talk about restoring the benches to the post-office it seems that in this case the University is definitely giving in to the wishes of the student body, or at least that part of it that spends its spare time here reading old copies of the Kernel. When you only have fifteen or twenty minutes to kill the SUB is much too far away and when winter really sets in there will be many who will not want to forsake the warm interior of McVey hall for a chilly jaunt across the campus to the SUB, only to come back at the end of the hour for another class. There seems to be no good reason why students should not sit in the post office."—B. L. W. Maybe it is because such a time was had last year in keeping the post office cleared of rubbish and the Kernels (notice we said "and") in spite of appeals to the student body.

Boys In The Shop

After last week's complimentary notes, we began to wonder why we had never mentioned the boys back in the composing room who are so helpful and absolutely necessary in putting out the Kernel. At this time, without further introduction, meet Tom Fike, Ralph Garner, Billy Hopewell, E. Carey, Bobby Daves, Wynne McKinney, Harold Hartzler, Walter Warf, and Charlie Steele.

Lack of Phones

"Dear Sir: The difficulty of reaching Paul Hall by telephone is sometimes appalling. It would seem that a dormitory which takes care of over 100 girls could have more than one telephone. I have tried for well over 30 minutes to get in touch with someone there, not once but many times. Surely the University isn't in such bad financial (Continued on Page Four)

BEHIND THE ECKDAHL

By ANDREW C. ECKDAHL

Initial Atrocity

The first and probably the most horrible atrocity of the forthcoming Czechoslovakia-Hitler war (which may not be forthcoming but already here by the time you read this) has already occurred. It took place when our friend Butch, that great student of political science, remarked that the situation in Europe was so serious because Adolph Hitler was Czechs-appeal.

High Glee

A thing of wonder was the expressions of delight on the faces of all the students at the dance Saturday night who heard the rumor that Hitler had been assassinated. Why even such a mild person as Miss Jeanne Barker was joyful when we told her the news. With the situation in Europe as it is, such anti-Adolph emotion bodes no good for us who have no desire to finish our careers in European trenches.

Thought

If the opinions of those in attendance at the dance mirrored their intelligence, we are speechless. One odd looking person wearing a froth cap said, "That's what he gets for taking Ethiopia."

Ky. 'Union' Cards To Be Called For At Next Dance

The following announcement has been issued from the office of the Director of the New Student Union building:

Membership cards will be called for as you purchase your tickets to the next dance in the Student Union building. Men students are to wear coats at all dances in the Student Union building. Women students are not to wear hats while dancing in the ballroom. Women students are not to wear anklets.

ROTC REGIMENT ADDS COMPANY TO ABSORB MEN

Military Department Forced To Use Four Companies Instead Of Three

NEW ORGANIZATION IS ANNOUNCED

Latest Set Up To Add To Companies Per Battalions At University

Battalions in the University ROTC Regiment this year will consist of four lettered companies instead of the usual three, according to an announcement released this week by the Military department.

The change has been made necessary by the increased enrollment in the department.

The following organization of the regiment is now in effect:

1. Regimental Headquarters, consisting of one Colonel, one Lieutenant Colonel, one Major (Adjutant), and two Color Sergeants.

2. First Battalion, consisting of Companies A, B, C, and D.

3. Second Battalion, consisting of Companies E, F, G, and H.

Each battalion will be commanded by a Lieutenant Colonel, who will have as aides one Major and one Captain (Adjutant).

Commissioned officers assigned to each company will include one Captain, four First Lieutenants and such number of Second Lieutenants as may be assigned.

Non-commissioned officers in each company will include one first sergeant, three platoon sergeants, and nine sergeants picked from the first year advanced course, and one corporal per squad chosen from the second year basic course.

'YW' Will Launch Program Tonight

Freshman Club To Meet In Union Rooms At 7 P. M.

The Young Women's Christian Association will begin a week's program of activities tonight at 7 o'clock in the "Y" rooms of the Student Union building when the Freshman Club holds the second meeting of the year. Eighty freshman men and women are expected to attend.

Dr. Huntley Dupre, professor in history department, will speak to the students, choosing as his subject "Why Are You Here?" Officers of the club for the coming year will be elected at the next meeting on October 4.

The first meeting of the new YWCA Sophomore Commission will be held at 4 p. m. Wednesday in the Student Union building. Mary Elizabeth Koppilus, YWCA president, will speak to the assembled group on her experiences in Christian mission fellowship work this summer at Lisle, New York.

Thursday at 5 p. m. in the "Y" rooms of the Student Union building, the members of the Junior Round Table will convene for the first meeting of this semester. Harriet Hendershot, junior in the College of Arts and Sciences and member of this group, will relate the highlights of her work during eight weeks this summer at the TVA American Work Camp, Sale/Creek, Tennessee.

13th Annual Fair To Be At UK Ag Farm

Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of the Central Christian church will deliver the principal address at the thirteenth annual Harvest Festival to be held at the Agricultural Experiment Farm of the University at Quicksand Thursday and Friday, Sept. 29 and 30.

Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper, dean of the College of Agriculture, will be the presiding officer of the two-day fair. Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey will attend the meeting and may assist with the program.

Most of the eastern counties of the state will be represented in the fair's exhibits and events which include ballad singing, horse shoe pitching contests, special 4-H Club features, and displays of food stuffs, home furnishings and fancy work.

UK INSTRUCTOR RECOVERING

Samuel Nuckolls, instructor in the English department, who underwent an operation for appendicitis Saturday at the St. Joseph's hospital, is in a fairly good condition according to the latest reports.

RHODES AWARD APPLICATIONS DEADLINE NOV. 5

Prof. Charles W. Williams Is Secretary For This State

32 SCHOLARSHIPS WILL BE OFFERED

Appointments Are Made For Two Year Period; No Restrictions

Students who wish to make application for the Rhodes scholarship at Oxford University must place it in the hands of the state secretary before Saturday, November 5. The secretary in this state is Professor Charles W. Williams, University of Louisville, Louisville, Kentucky.

According to the will of Cecil John Rhodes, 32 scholarships, tenable at the University of Oxford are assigned annually to the United States. Appointments are made for two years and for those whose record and plan of study make an award advisable, a third year is possible. There are no restrictions placed upon a Rhodes scholar's choice of studies.

To be eligible a candidate must be an unmarried, male citizen of the United States, must be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five on October 1, 1939, and must have completed at least his sophomore year by the time of application. Selections for appointment are based on literary and scholastic ability and attainments; qualities of manhood and devotion to duty, exhibition of leadership ability, and physical vigor. The most important requirement for a Rhodes scholarship is some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect, character, or personality, or in any combination of these qualities.

An applicant must be approved by his own college or university. Any number of students may apply if approved by the college, as there is no institutional quota. The necessary forms for application may be obtained in President McVey's office in the Administration building.

CLASSIFICATION RATINGS SHOWN

Twenty-Five Freshmen Score In Upper Ten Percent Of Class

Out of approximately 900 freshmen taking the entrance test prepared by Dr. E. J. Asher of the psychology department, 25 scored in the highest 10 percent. It was announced yesterday by Dr. Asher.

Examinations included the Kentucky general scholastic ability test, the Kentucky English test, and the Kentucky mathematics test.

Prepared in order to classify freshmen and transfer students as to sections, the examinations were given to approximately 1,150 students.

More freshmen scored in the highest 10 percent on two of the tests but dropped below this rating on the third test. The classification honor roll is made up of only first semester freshmen.

The highest standing freshmen are: Edwin C. Barkman, Watkins Glen, N. Y.; William Lee Bruckhart, Jr., Washington, D. C.; Arthur Sprague Collins, Lebanon; William T. Collins, Lexington; Milford D. Eschall, Lexington; Valoris H. Florence, Crittenden; Earle C. Fowler, Lexington; and Martin J. Freedman, Port Chester, N. Y.

John W. Gaines, Frankfort; Patricia R. Hanauer, Covington; Eugene B. Johnson, Paris; Loren N. Jones, California; Rita Sue Leslie, West Point; Anne Douglas McCown, Versailles; Anthony R. Patterson, Louisville; and Billy Penick, Lebanon.

Stanley William Penna, Louisville; Andrew M. Sea, Louisville; Ruth Slaughter, Hodgenville; Robert M. Sprague, Lebanon; Bernard G. Stall, Lexington; Richard P. Stoll, Lexington; George Terrell, Danville; Sara Lucille Triplett, Henderson; and Orlando Van Arsdell, Lexington.

NYA Blanks Contain 44 Errors

Out of 275 application blanks for NYA positions, 44 contain technical errors that must be corrected. Dean Jones urges all those that have not yet reported to him for the necessary corrections to do so at once. Checks cannot be issued until blanks have been corrected.

STUDENTS, STAFF WILL BE GUESTS AT UNION PARTY

Reception Will Be Held In Great Hall Of New Building

EVENT IS FIRST OF KIND AT UK

Invitations Have Been Issued To All Of Faculty And Students

Seeking to encourage "a spirit of good fellowship" between the faculty and the members of the student body, the Kentucky Student Union will sponsor a student-faculty reception to be held in the Great Hall of the Union building from 8 to 10 o'clock, Thursday evening, September 29.

The reception, the first of its kind to be held at this university, will be arranged and directed by the house committee of the Student Union Building. Homer Thompson, chairman of the committee, will be in charge.

The following will be in the receiving line: Pres. Frank L. McVey and Mrs. McVey, Dean P. P. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd, Dean Thomas Poe Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, Dean Hiram Graham and Mrs. Graham, Dean W. S. Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, Dean Edward Wiest and Mrs. Wiest.

Dean Alvin E. Evans and Mrs. Evans, Dean W. D. Funkhouser and Mrs. Funkhouser, Dean T. T. Jones and Mrs. Jones, Dean Sarah G. Blanding, Dean Sarah B. Holmes, Mrs. Ethel Lebus, and members of the board of directors of the Student Union.

Dean Holmes will introduce the students to members of the faculty in the receiving line.

Music for the reception will be furnished by Virginia Rich, harpist, and Rosalie Herman, violinist.

Invitations have been issued to all members of the University faculty and staff, and a blank invitation has been issued to all members of the student body of the University. The reception is to be informal and punch will be served in the Great Hall.

UK Music Library To Present Concert Wednesday Night

First of a series of Wednesday night concerts of classical recordings will be presented from 7 to 8 o'clock on September 28 in Room 430 of the library, the Carnegie music room. Five selections of Beethoven's works will be played.

Dr. Alexander Capurso, assistant Community Music Study, in charge of the program is to give a brief talk on the history of the Carnegie foundation and deliver a short lecture on the program of the evening. The program will include the "Eroica" symphony, "Egmont" overture, "Bagatelle," "quartet in F. op. 135," "Violin Concerto."

Violin programs will be presented each Wednesday evening. Wagner's Opera "Tristan and Isolde" will be played in the music room of the library from 2 to 4 p. m. Thursday.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Classification test scores may be obtained by calling at the office of Prof. E. Asher, 302 Neville Hall between 3 and 5 p. m. any afternoon except Saturday.

S. E. CONFERENCE WILL RECOGNIZE BOWL BID NODS

Group Goes On Record As Being Favorable To Post-Season Dates

7 OF 13 MEMBERS APPROVE MOVE

Executive Committee Reverses Decision Of Year Ago On Same Topic

The Southeastern conference of which Kentucky is a member, went on record Friday as being favorable to a continuance of a "wide open" attitude toward participation of its teams in post-season "bowl" football games.

With approval from 7 of the deep South leagues' 13 members, a team may participate in after season encounters. This decision came after opposition from certain quarters, but in the final tally the executive committee overwhelmingly agreed to respect "bowl" bids.

At a meeting of the executive committee a year ago, the group voted to sanction only participation in the Rose and Sugar bowl games. The committee reversed its stand later however when Auburn asked, and received by a 7-6 vote, permission to play in the Orange bowl. Last year loop members appeared in the Rose, Sugar and Orange bowls. The role call of the league, formed from the Southern conference in 1933, includes Kentucky, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Sewanee, Alabama, Mississippi State, Tulane, Louisiana State, Auburn and Florida.

The action by the committee left only two major conferences in the nation which still from on post-season games for its members. The Big 10, composed of the larger universities of the North and Midwest flatly refuses its members the New Year's Bowl call nor do the Ivy League, Yale, Harvard and Princeton favor such contests.

SEASON'S CONVOS ARE SCHEDULED

Underwood, Lexington Herald Editor, Among Selected Speakers

Five general convocations have been scheduled for the remainder of the first semester of 1938-39. Dr. Roy Burkhart of Columbus, Ohio, and Mr. Tom Underwood, editor of the Lexington Herald, are among those who have been selected as speakers.

President Frank L. McVey delivered the address at the first convocation of the year and spoke on "The University As A Community." The annual convocation at the first of each school year has as its purpose the assisting of new students to become accustomed to their surroundings.

The next convocation this year will be held Friday, October 11, when Dr. Roy Burkhart will speak on "Marriages and the Home." Dr. Burkhart was on the campus last year and presented a series of talks and open discussions on marriage relation problems.

On Wednesday, November 9, Mr. Underwood, graduate of the University, will speak on "University Heritage."

A representative of the American of Puerto Rico has been scheduled to give the address for the fourth convocation on December 8. A possible Christmas convocation will be held December 15.

The mid-year commencement convocation will be held Monday, January 30.

FACILITIES FOR DANCING

All students are urged to take advantage of facilities for dancing in the Student Union recreation room. A large stock of phonograph records are on hand in the Director's office, in addition to two radios.

REVIVAL OF LAB PLAYS

The series of laboratory plays, so successful last year, will be revived this semester. All interested students may call at the Guignol office.

GUIGNOL REOPENS WITH NEW PLAY, 'SUSAN AND GOD'

Mary E. Lyons Has Leading Role In Rachel Crother's Production

STORY IS A SATIRE ON OXFORD MOVEMENT

Theater To Open October 24 With Many Veteran Performers

The curtain of the new Guignol season will be raised with Rachel Crother's play, "Susan and God," a satire on the Oxford movement, on October 24 with Mary E. Lyons in the feminine lead. She has previously appeared in the leads of "First Lady," "Taming of the Shrew," "When Ladies Meet," and "Oedipus Rex."

J. B. Faulconer, the German Scientist in "Idiot's Delight," presented last season, has made lead in the new play.

In Susan and God, Susan (Mary Lyons) has returned from a trip to Europe believing that she should teach love as the greatest thing in the world. Barrie, (J. B. Faulconer), her husband who drinks excessively, says that he will help her in this work if she believes in it.

Irene (Virginia Ganton) and Leonora (Evelyn Combs) are friends of Susan's. Blossom (Norma Jackson) is the thirteen-year-old daughter of Susan and Barrie, Charlotte (Christine McBrayer) is the rival to Susan. Leeds (Helen Friedman) and Leontine (Adele Ball) are the maids.

Mike (Gordon Bugie) plays opposite Irene. Stubbs (Edward M. Brummette) is the husband to Leonora. Clyde (Leslie Betz) is the youngest of the male roles.

Frank Fowler, beginning his eleventh year as Guignol, is directing the play. Minna Bloomfield is the Associate director, and the assistant director is Genevieve Howard.

Advanced Students Must Take Exams For Degrees Oct. 1

Examinations to establish reading knowledge in foreign languages, required of all candidates for advanced degrees, will be held on Saturday morning, October 1. Prof. Hobart Ryland, head of the romance language department announced yesterday.

French and Spanish examinations can be taken from 9-10, 10-11, 11-12. German tests are to be offered from 10 to 11:30 a. m.

Maximum time limits for French and Spanish examinations will be 60 minutes, for German 90 minutes. Dictionaries may be used, but extensive use will be impossible because of the time limits imposed.

This year, for the first time, examinations are scheduled for two dates only: October 1 and March 1.

Theta Sigma Phi Formulates Plans

Plans were formulated for the ensuing year's activities at the first meeting of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journal-improvement fraternity, yesterday in the Student Union building.

Leslie Lee Jones, president of the organization, gave a report of the national convention which was held at Los Angeles, California in August.

The next meeting will be held in conjunction with the Lexington Alumnae chapter, with Miss Margaret McLaughlin, president of the Alumnae group and adviser for the active chapter, presiding.

NEW RECORD SET IN ENROLLMENT

Late Students Boost Mark 79 Over 1937 Total Of 3,525

Last year's all-time student enrollment was broken at the end of registration yesterday afternoon when the final number of 3,604 students showed an increase of 79 over 1937's 3,525.

Since the beginning of last week when an increase of 31 on Monday, September 19, showed over last year's figures for the same date, it has been evident that a new record would be set. An enrollment of 3,463 on Tuesday beat last year's figures for the same date by 50, and the lead was increased to 61 on Wednesday.

This lead showed a slight drop on Thursday with 3,488 students registered on that date being only 55 more than the number for 1937. Although the Registrar's office was supposed to close at 3 p. m. yesterday, it was held open until 5 o'clock to accommodate late students. Yesterday was the last date for changing or entering an organized class.

Four Girls Added To Cheering Squad By Popular Acclaim

At the cheerleaders tryouts Friday afternoon, the members of Su-Ky picked four girls from the fifteen who tried out for the two vacancies as cheerleaders. From these four, the two who met with the most approval of the student body at the pep rally Friday night, were to be chosen.

Contrary to expectations, all of the girls turned in such good performances that the students refused to pick two as being outstanding, giving them all a big ovation when they demonstrated their cheer-provoking ability.

The addition of these four girls, Pauline Bailor, Lee Overstreet, Mildred Griffin and Sarah Fisher, and one boy, Jimmy Small, brought the number of our cheering squad up to eight.

These eight yell-leaders, only three of whom are veterans, are working on new routines. However they do not expect to have them all ready in time for this Saturday's game against Oglethorpe.

At the game a section comprising 30 seats across and 14 rows up will be roped off and used in the special exhibition by Su-Ky. On the back of each of these seats will be tacked cards of various colors. During the first half the students in these seats will hold up certain cards according to directions printed on the cards and signals called by the cheerleaders.

At the kickoff at the start of the second half, these cards will be torn up and thrown into the air. With the full cooperation of the students, a very striking display can be had. Plans for another pep rally will be discussed by Su-Ky at their next meeting Tuesday. Sweaters for all of the cheerleaders have been ordered but it is doubtful if they will arrive before the Oglethorpe game this Saturday.

German Department Offers New Course

During the present semester, the German Department will offer a non-credit reading course in German for persons interested in qualifications for their master's or doctor's degree at 7 o'clock tonight in the German department.

Dr. A. E. Bigge, head of the German department has announced that at the first meeting a suitable class period will be selected by the vote of the majority.

The class will be open to any interested students.

Blistering Sun Slows Big Blue To Two Markers In Initial Period

THREE SOPHOMORES IN OPENING LINEUP

Combs, Zoeller, And Davis Lead Touchdown Parade With Two Apiece

Following sluggish first half show with an aggressive driving second half presentation, Kentucky's Cats made the entire of Ab Kirwan into the local coaching circle a success by mauling their hereditary teething victims, Maryville College, 46-7 before 7,000 customers Saturday afternoon on Stoll field.

The blistering sun that sent the thermometer racing to near 90 degrees seemed to have its effect on the Cats during he first half and only two touchdowns were registered. With a reversal of form during the final stanza, five Blue and White markers were ferried into six-point land.

Three sophomores found starting berths on the team Coach Kirwan sicked at the Scots, but before the game had lapsed far these starters were joined by a score more first year varsity men. At one time in the final half, an entire sophomore eleven, with the exception of the center slot, occupied the field. The Wildcats showed the effects of their inexperience by being caught off-guard several times allowing Maryville, from punt formation, to whip short passes into the flat zone but all in all the defensive showing was consistent with the Scotties acquiring only 42 yards from rushing.

Stark's Afternoon

From the Kentucky side of the picture no-one player was outstanding but the entire starting team plus several reserves shared the spotlight. A trio of fine sophomore backs, plus, hula-hipped Carl Combs, power-running Bill Wiegand and Dave Zoeller, a deadly passer, made their varsity debuts at the inaugural game. These men when bolstered by the resurrected Dameron Davis gave Kentucky a dangerous offensive bombshell.

Deafest for Maryville was not without balm for they returned to their mountains content with having scored a touchdown against the Blues, a relish denied the Scots since 1927. With six minutes of the final session remaining to be dispensed and with Big Blue third and fourth stringers wearing the helmets, the visitors scored their marker with one of football's oldest plays, the sleeper pass. The play started when Ethridge, Scot end, evidently lay down on the 24-yard line for a sun bath and the Blues stood politely by like good hosts until Honaker shot him a pass and he had set sail goal-ward. The 76 yards to the last line was made without a finger being laid on him and the try for point was made good by Morton with a place kick.

Kentucky required 11 minutes in scoring their first marker. After an exchange of punts with Kentucky on the advantage end, Gardner, Maryville fullback, booted out of bounds on his own 46 yard line. On the next play Combs punched over tackle, reversed his field and stepped 38 yards before being shoved out of bounds on the Maryville 8 yard stripe. Combs then swung wide around his right end and with perfect blocking scored standing up. Wilce Carnes added the extra point with a place kick.

Now That Is Evident

—and in so doing, neatly restore the bedraggled dove of peace over the "European Situation."

Why, look at Dorothy Thompson who, after extracting the bird from her inkwell, glued on a few feathers with wise paragraphs and made it almost presentable. Walter Lippmann came along and, in three or four minutes flat, fed it a pill concocted of choice peace phrases, imparting the spark of life to weary wings. Appeared Westbrook Pegler waving a home-grown olive branch and the task was done.

Other columnists, other writers, other seers, digging deep into their vast stores of peace feathers, sprinkled liberally of the brilliant plumage. For it was brilliant. Some was definitely red, a part showed unmistakable signs of pink, while still more was as white as grandma's pillow cases.

Now it is not the policy of a student newspaper, as THE KERNEL, to sit in judgment on matters which are ticklish enough in more experienced hands. And certainly each of the above artists has a right to express his own opinions; but with such disagreement among masters in the field, we just do not feel justified in giving into the hands of any member of the student body the task of writing a similar column, much as it is to be desired.

In regard to the news pages, a semi-weekly student paper does not justify the existence of an associated news service. That leaves only "swiped" material, second-hand at best. $8 in spite of the APPARENT lack of concern on the part of the student paper, it is intensely interested in finding a means of presenting an unbiased picture to the school.

But until that means is discovered, and with war looming as an imminent probability, THE KERNEL does wish to urge that students take more than a passing interest in an international crisis which even the optimists agree will directly or indirectly affect our cloistered life too soon.

A Plug For Progress

I WRITE this editorial because in a world where it is not considered wise to be ignorant paradoxically enough college students are not concerned about the beautification of the 106 acre campus where for nine months they share in community living.

In 1935 the Department of Building and Grounds, with loans from WPA, issued orders to begin the laying of sidewalks in paths then strewn with gravel. Since then until the first day of July of this year 65,000 square feet of concrete has been poured into runways and sidewalks. One and one half miles of driveways have been resurfaced and over three miles of curbs and gutters laid.

Uninteresting facts but involving a cost of $1,325,000 or more. Students sometimes complain because they have to hurdle ditches on the way to classes, or listen to a professor's lecture punctuated with the staccato hum of some tool tearing up old sidewalks. As an institution expands so does its systems of power lines, telephone lines, and sewer lines deteriorate. The old must give way to the new, thus the necessity for continual repairing and construction.

It behooves us to become aware of the change. It we are to become the future citizens of tomorrow it is here we should begin in a community of 4,000 people to develop an attitude of pride toward our campus.—L. L. J.

Get Up On Your Toes

AT THE pep rally Friday night, Suky again demonstrated its ability to establish a better school spirit and a closer relationship between students and the athletic program.

Interest this year promises to be more pronounced than in the past, but in spite of everything that one organization may do, no really successful demonstration of enthusiasm is to be realized unless the student body cooperates more fully.

Suky had a good program—a show that should have packed the house, but only one-half of the gymnasium was filled with loyal boosters. Perhaps it was because of the "open houses," maybe because of a hundred things—but not one for which there was an excuse.

Another rally will be held before long and it will be announced well in advance. Begin planning to yell at that meeting and show a good team that you are really enthusiastic.

If students show that they have the interest of their college at heart enough to stand behind the "home" team, then outsiders will be more eager to attend the various games and offer support to any and all of our undertakings.

Scrap Irony

By HARRY WILLIAMS

IF MR. DUDLEY DIGGES can keep Death in an apple tree on the New York stage, we see no reason why someone doesn't do something about Fate. Lately we have been having considerable truck with Fate and we can tell you that it hasn't been at all pleasant. Fate is discriminating against us. We do not mind occasional clashes with what seems to be our destiny, but several things have popped up this past week that are by no means cricket.

First off, we are unable to buy a Spanish book of the proper vintage. There are none on the campus. There are none in the book store. There are none in the library. The book store is sorry. The library is sorry. The professor is sorry. All of this agonizing solicitude for us. No Spanish book. Why? you ask. Simply because in some other incarnation we foiled Fate and he hasn't gotten over it. We have forgotten what incarnation it was. We remember comparatively few of our other incarnations, but Fate, like an untipped waiter, never forgets. He deprives us of Spanish books, he sees that we get tough veal chops wherever we dine, he makes our feet hurt at dances, he loses our trunks somewhere between Nashville and Lexington and forces us to live out of a handbag for three weeks, he makes us cut wisdom teeth two at a time. It's monstrous, that's what it is, and we are not going to take it lying down. We are contemplating severing our relations with Fate. We loathe Fate with a subtle loathing that can only be felt by someone who has suffered all these insidious misdoings. From now on our doctrine is, "Peace! Father Divine is God." And, we might add, "The Devil take the hindmost." Although we have not the slightest notion of what the word "hindmost" means.

Simile Of The Week:

As indifferent as a mirror.

Jamie Thompson has one of the best college orchestras it has ever been our pleasure to hear. His arrangements are excellent. We enjoyed every measure of "Flatfoot Floogee" for the first time since that damnable tune emerged from tin pan alley. We enjoyed it, do you understand? As Leigh Hunt said, "Fate, you thief who loves to get sweets into your list—put that in!"

Sunday afternoon, we visited all the sororities within reasonable distance of the Lexington area. We congratulated everyone. We drank impotent punch. We stood around. We smiled weakly at each introduction and we ran the gamut of pledges in every house on the campus. They are all good-looking enough, but they seemed sort of flored. As a matter of fact, they probably were flored. We found it exceedingly difficult to pick the most beautiful ones. (We have to say that you know, ethics and all that.) However we did.

Kappa Kappa Gamma, Deedie Allen, Martha Jane Rich, Jane Baynham, Jane Cherry, Peg Tallman, some girl name of Crabbe (we didn't catch her first).

Alpha Gamma Delta: Dorothy Ammons, Ruth Bennett, Elizabeth Butler, Ruth Clay Palmer, and Eckdahl's wonder-girl with the name like the watch—Jane Elgin Dudley.

Kappa Delta: Lee Overstreet, Nancy Brown, Dorothy Bond, and there was another one, but Jean Abel muttered so that we were unable to get her name, any of it.

Chi Omega: Nan Kirby, Ginger Watson, Mary Van Arsdale, Geneva Sego, and a girl from out of Eckdahl's past—Mary Mitchell Rees.

Delta Delta Delta: Betty Bois Miller, Betty Rose, Glen Edwards, and Sue Baskett.

If we have listed any house-mothers or actives, we beg your indulgence.

They seem to be having quite a bit of trouble in Czechoslovakia. One of the important questions seems to be, "Is Hitler bluffing?" For our readers, who can't be expected to read everything, we have compiled this survey of columnar opinion:

Mr. Walter Lippmann: Not bluffing
Mr. Walter Winchell: Bluffing
Mr. Westbrook Pegler: Not bluffing
Miss Dorothy Thompson: Bluffing
Mr. Andrew Eckdahl: I am color blind and will not have to go in any case.
Bluffing!

SIDELINGS

By CÉPARE RIVIER

GREATLY modified, but basically similar to Negro religious initiations, Friday night's official sorority baptism continued to exist as one of the silliest relics of tribal custom to remain in the educational museum. Cropped at the dew point by Dean Blanding's stringent rules, emotionalism this year was in sharp disparity to that of former sisterings. Nevertheless, the actions and remarks of all concerned did nothing to dispel the conviction that the entire procedure is rather foolish. The conduct of some of the young ladies involved was so preposterous, indeed, that for a moment our faith in the feminine intellect flattered and failed for breath.

Beginning more or less at the stroke of seven, the ceremony did not dawdle long. Dorothy Babbitt, high priestess of the proceedings, mounted her rostrum and began calling out the names of excited kneepheeters. Most of the aspirants were fidgety, unsure, nervous; due to the strain of Pan-Hell week and the mental hubbub of waiting to walk up for bids. As their names were called by Miss Babbitt, they fluttered down the aisles, hurried backstage, and came out hesitantly fingering sealed envelopes. By the time they were back in the Mem hall lobby, the red hot flaps were torn, and they knew for certain which bunch had hooked them. Finally they were escorted outside by Greekettes and carried away in effusive triumph to sororitenements.

As the freshly-hatched sisters were ushered out a side door they were asked to make statements for publication. The majority of responses were stereotyped, dull, and uninteresting. The reaction to a possibility of publicity was unanimously one of flattered pleasure.

Seventy per cent of the replies were from two to four words in length. The phrasing ran, "It's swell" or "I think it's grand." It was somewhat astonishing to note how many minds had but a single thought during the exodus from the sanctum. Omitting those answers rendered inane by constant recurrence, some of the more pertinent ones are printed below.

Elizabeth Butler, Alpha Gam: It was a nerve-racking ordeal, but everything's all right now.

Betty Miller, Tri Delt: "Rush week was awful, and I went to sleep during the ceremony."

Mary Agnes Penney, Tri Delt: "Oh my Lord!"

Martha Jane Rich, Kappa: "The ceremony was very impressive."

Ruth Clay Palmer, Alphasigma: "The ceremony was so solemn it scared me."

Jane Cherry, Kappa: "I loved it! The ceremony was so exciting!"

Mary Ellen Evans, Kappa Delta: "Awfully boring. I went to sleep."

Betty Rose, Tri Delt: "I'm tired."

Elizabeth Darnaby, Alphasigma: "I have nothing to say."

A KD pledge: "Rushing should wait for six weeks."

Arm in arm down the walk they went, laughing (and some of them crying), while Dick, the janitor, delightedly mimicked them behind their backs.

College girls are famous for their inability to negotiate automobiles, and before all the sororities had made off with their cars and their pledges, there was a mishap in the McVey hall vehicle reservation.

Eleanor Randolph smashed into Leigh Brown's car and incited an inter-sorority tug-of-war in an effort to disentangle bumpers. An unfortunate lad who offered to help got his fingers smashed for his pains.

Presently the space cleared, and several hundred related females whizzed back to their lodges, shrieking with rather hollow ecstasy.

The conduct of the different fem clans at the following pledge presentations neatly indexed the attitudes of each group. At the Alpha Gam house, all was a turmoil of introductions, dancing, congratula-

My Dear Watson!

● "This will is dated 1894. Utterly impossible! It couldn't have been written before 1937, because my chemical tests prove it was inscribed with Penit, the remarkable new ink created by Sanford only last year. Elementary . . . my dear Watson!"

Amazing, Sherlock! For the benefit of Dr. Watson and other students in the Crime Detection School, may we add:

Penit is a free-flowing, trouble-proof ink. It has an attractive greenish blue color. You can count on it for smooth, easy-writing . . . always! Because it's pen-tested for all makes of pens.

that Betty had a birthday and is now the possessor of a locket with a crest on it.

Seen at the Maryville scrimmage Saturday: Barker-Buckley, Greenwell-Jackson, Jilson-Burlew, Tridelt Elliot - McKrosky, Kappa Elliot - Sweeney, Wheeler - Spicer (high school ex's together again), Gilmore - Canary (where was Peg Weakley?), Murray-Hill (sounds like Major Boles telephone number . . . seems that Edna is battin' 329), Hansen - Smith, Greathouse - Hope (well, well!), Houlihan-Elliot, D. Brown-Croft, and Hillenmeyer-L. Brown. Quite a collection of Brown's, Elliotts, and other things.

Signs appearing in Boyd and Patt Halls to the effect that a Phi Delt pin has been misplaced have caused several interested queries. KD Miriam Guardhouse has been industriously posting the signs and calling the police and putting ads in the paper . . . "for a friend" . . . uh huh.

Phi Delt Hon Davis to Delt Hoot Combs: "Do you live here or do you ride a bicycle?"

Some of last year's campus luminaries were back for Saturday's game. "Smoke" Joe Hagan, last year's football and basketball star, and "Big" Jim Goforth with Betty Lou Holstein were among the many. Ticky Scholtz was seen running around the Tavern telling inquiring friends that this Great Dane Eric had caught his tail in an electric fan and had to have some of it amputated. Dick Robinson and Opal Hobbs smilingly acknowledging greetings from their many friends . . . and Sam Potter back again. Emore "Red" Simpson, last year's track captain and football player, in town for the game and seen squiring Marjorie Griffin hither and yon.

Scenes in the bird cage this weekend were varied. Harold Bush, Benny Owen, last year's ATO flash Phil Ledridge, and last year's Most Popular J. Rice Walker, Tridelt Dot Collier, Frances Woods, and Mildred Croft were among those present. George Spencer, ex-Kernel editor aided in defining the word "copy desk," and Miami Wiedeman, "one of most charming girls in the university," (quote one of the brightest campus stars) were also there. SAE Gus Morgan and Sigma Chis Gordon Bugie and Bill Tracey sitting solemnly in the Cottage Friday night.

Alphasigma Jane Potter and Phi Delt Frank Rogers are pinned, it happened in Winchester (most anything can happen in Winchester . . . look at Eckdahl). Kappa Sally Galtskill is pinned again while Pi Kap pledge Walter Dodge serenely takes care of his puppy and Billie Dyer.

Ex-Dunbarite Brownie Brown is extremely nearsighted. Extremely. One of Brownie's classic remarks occurred Friday eve when she said "Is that Mr. Dextrose?" when Jimmy Groselose passed by. Well . . .

Jim McGraw has been haunting Patterson Hall lately . . . reason, Tridelt pledge Betty Rose. It seems Letelle Stephenson's name is spelled Stephenson. Mr. Stevenson would like it to be known that we have been guilty of misspelling his name every time it has been in print this season. Apologies, L. S.

Suggestions for campus etiquette will be welcomed with glee . . . some have all ready come in . . . girls chewing gum with gusto in public places have received the greatest majority of thumbs down . . . according to many males it looks like . . . another one mentioned is the fact that many women rise when they meet other women . . . that, it seems, is unnecessary unless the other woman is older and is meeting a student or a little girl . . . it looks very peculiar to see a bunch of women rise with the men to meet another woman . . . and number 3 of this first series deals with the straw, or match chewing affected by many college boys . . . a match dangling out of one corner of the mouth is practically a sign of degeneracy, according to numbers of incensed coeds . . . however, chewing gum in public looks just as bad . . . cooperation is an idea . . . any complaints or suggestions concerning campus etiquette will be very welcome . . . drop them in the Who's Who-ey box in the Kernel office.

Tidbits: Amelia Talbot is reported to be taking French because a New Jersey swain (we don't get it) writes letters and cards in that language . . . SAE Ben Williams is having trouble with a freshman lass who insists on asking him for dates. When Ben explained that he couldn't take her out Friday night because of a little matter of Dot Stag the little girl told him confidentially that she thought he could get-out of it if he tried . . . classa freshman remark upon meeting Sigmachi. "Is it Dim Witt or Jim Witt?" . . . looking at it from a Tridelt angle things have been popping in the Betsy Covington-Pi Kap Bob Brown - Alice Reading - Austin Triplett fiasco . . . Betsy and Bob have pfft and so have Alice and Austin which makes it a double flat with Bob Brown right in the middle . . . KD's little pledge cheer leader, Lee Overstreet is upholding the Overstreet tradition plus . . . not to speak of little Mary Margaret Gentry who is also a member of the KD shelta . . . KA pledge "Chawney De Pew" Karstrom promises to be another double F Davis as he all ready stops coeds with his motion picture camera . . . three of Kappas loveliest pledges are Martha Jane Rich, Benny Crabbe, and Deedie Allen . . . We expect to hear a great deal of Benny in the coming beauty parades . . . a prediction . . . Nell Foster should be mentioned as a wild-eyed glamour girl who sings wicked swing . . . Delt pledge Stan Hayes has been spoken of as the Zasu Pitts of the Kentucky campus and a darned fine soldier . . . Overheard after fraternity rushing, "The SAE's had the best rush fried chicken I've ever tasted" . . .

WELCOME

The cordial greetings of the past two weeks from numerous returning University students—our friends and patrons—are sincerely appreciated and we heartily welcome you back to Lexington.

We are also glad to see those new faces on the campus, and hope they too will like Lexington and let us know them and be known by them just as it has been our privilege with the U. of K. students of former years.

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

Gad-zooks, Alphonse, what talk is this?

Can it be that my ear trumpet is clogged again or did I actually hear someone whisper a word of encouragement concerning our Wildcat football team? Not that the 46-7 massacre of the Maryville Scots, who slid down the grapevine from their mountain refuge to pry open the local season, proved or disproved Kentucky's strength, but right now this new version Blue and White clete-crew is topic for more conversation than at any time since the Rose Bowl fever of 1936. Surely you remember that year; Kentucky was a cinch for the call to the Roses until they were caged by Georgia Tech 34-0 in their third start.

Hold on, you needn't reserve any Pasadena space yet because we are not going this year, it's not that sort of talk that you hear about the Cats. The skeptics that were shaking their heads and swinging a funeral dirge over the cruel fate that sent the Blues off to the grid war snow knock on wood and loosen their pessimism to the extent of predicting Kentucky to win one more game. When a team isn't expected to do anything, the slightest show of power is clasped by fans like a long lost debtor.

On Again—Off Again

Make a guess as to how many of the 7,000 customers at the game Saturday predicted or even imagined that the Kentucky margin would rise to 39 points. Even after discovering that the Cats would carry a weight advantage of 30 pounds per man in the line, bets on Maryville with two touchdowns were as frequent as Saturday night baths. To say the least, for a team so splattered with green as the Wildcats, the margin proved very satisfactory even though the action was spotty like a fraternity house shower, the Cats play was by spurs scalding hot and freezing cold. But considering the fact that the one varsity regular from last year was surrounded in the line by two sophomores and four men resurrected from the mourners bench of last season and the margin seems even more staggering.

Kentucky's most vulnerable spot Saturday was not through the line that grand stand quarterbacks had labeled weak as diluted mouth wash, but inability to cover pass receivers caused the most trouble. In all the Scotties called for 17 forwards and completed 8 for a total advancement of 143 yards, 111 yards more than they added by running the leather. It wasn't the passes that were completed that looked dangerous but the number of shots that failed to reach their mark. In many cases with the receiver standing in the clear. Disregard the pass that resulted in the Maryville touchdown, a thing like that may happen once, but not twice, even to an inexperienced bunch. The reason for that marker might be attributed to a heat mirage. The Turkish bath climatic conditions may have affected the Cats' vision transforming the Hillbilly end, who lagged out on the play and snagged the heave, into another field yard marker. Heat can do a lot of funny things.

Razzle-Dazzleless

The Cats may not go in for a lot of razzle-dazzle this year but their offensive punch does pack deception. For example, late in the second quarter Saturday after Hughes had punted away from Combs and out on the Maryville 46-yard line on a perfect spinner Combs handed the ball to Carnes, who pedaled 19 yards before running into the Maryville safety man. So covered was the ball that Combs was tackled while Carnes ambled through a truck sized hole down the middle without being touched by a line-man. Then a second later, after Combs had subbed for Carnes, came one of the smoothest plays of the afternoon. Zoeller heeled around right end in a wide arc and while under full steam whipped a 26-yard already-caught pass to Spears in the end zone.

To Joe Shepherd goes the honors due the best block of the game. Early in the third quarter the ball had been jockeyed down to the 6-yard line by Combs. On the next play Combs set sail for the goal line around right end and found only Ethridge. Scot end, marring his view of the promised land. With a perfect shoe-top block Shepherd foisted that obstacle up like an opera hat, allowing Combs to score untouched.

"Woe Is Me"—Kirwin

Like the old woman who lived in the shoe, at the present time Coach Kirwin has so many backfield men of equal ability that he doesn't know what to do because he can't find room for them all in the starting line-up. Any of his sophomore backs would embarrass the bench. Just try to put your finger on a starting secondary that stands very far above any other combination. Shepherd would fit at quarter and Carnes at full, but then pick the halves. Combs for one of the slots but who else? How about "Hun" Davis, playing in his old fashion; Zoeller with his sharp running passes; Wiegand the power runner that stiff arms with his elbows in the Bert Johnson style then there is Mason, Powell, Hammond and Johnson. What to do, what to do.

In all the furor over the backfield situation let's not overlook the far-too-neglected men in the line, those fellows who are in for a beating on every play but seldom make the headlines. The Blue and White front trench guardians showed their possibilities by holding the Scots to a net gain of 42 yards. Three centers, Hinklebein, Bailey, and Black, broke into the Kentucky column, any of who could clog the middle of the line for most any coach. The guards showed their speed by downing punt returners in their tracks time and time again. The starting combine of Palmer and Spickard will have a dispute from Willoughby, Vires, Fritz and Pardo for the opening nod against Oglethorpe. At the tackles Kentucky showed to her best advantage. Both starters, Luke Linden and Harry Brown, put the closed door sign over their territory and the reserves Reed, Eldner, Jacobs and Gamble kept the hole guarded. The ends were weakest on defense but were unusually well fortified with offensive powder.

Phoey To Me

When, last Friday, I commented on the fact that some of my score predictions would probably explode in my face, I was merely being modest. I didn't have any conception of how many really would. Most of my selections went over like a lead balloon. But I think the entire blame might be attributed to my system of selections. I never did like the idea of choices by number, so next Friday a new receipt which includes a lot of stuff about the stars, the weather temperature and an A in English, will be attempted.

For the convenience of those of my mail-order critics who have not yet sent in their scorching denials of my psychic ability I hit only four out of my nine predictions. But as I said, it's all in the system.

Hereafter I'd best stick to the best selection I know, Lunchtime at 12 to 1.

Oglethorpe

The Stormy Petrels of Oglethorpe with two black marks chalked on the wrong side of their eleven game assignment ledger, invade the local battle field, October 1, in an attempt to tame the Wildcats. Furman crucified the Georgian Saints in their opening encounter, 13-6. A conclusive win by Presbyterian College last Saturday netted the Petrels a 9-7 loss.

Vanderbilt

Although rifled of a great many precious jewels through a graduation stealth, the Commodore treasure chest is still laden with a wealthy portion of backfield talent. However, in last week's skirmish with Washington University, the usual brilliance of the Vandy jewelry was lessened to a mere glow and the Commodores were hard pressed in scuttling the St. Louis eleven 20-0. The backfield stars, Agee, Andrus, Housman and Hinton were outstanding in Saturday's game.

Washington & Lee

Victorious in Friday's game with impotent Hampden-Sydney, 7-6 the galloping Generals of Washington and Lee, victors in only two war games last season, seem to be riding the merry-go-round this year. Predicted to conquer half their opponents this semester, the Generals will have to explode a more potent charge of dynamite than that displayed at their Virginia stronghold Friday to stop the Cats in the October 15 meeting.

Xavier

A 6-0 pecking administered by the beaks of the South Carolina Gamecocks, who were clawed unmercifully in the local arena last year, has dulled the newly polished brig of the Xavier Buccaneers. Unless a trio of elevens, who the St. X's are to trade tackles with before they meet the Kentuckians, are not utilized to put a shine on the Buccaneer big guns, it is likely that the Cincinnati will find little enjoyment in their Homecoming festivities with the Blues Oct. 21.

Alabama

A Crimson Tide that rolled slowly out of the South terminated into a raging tidal wave and sent a noble band of Southern California Trojans to the depths Saturday by 13-0.

It seems impossible that the quartet of teams that the Tusculosa Elephants are yet to meet before setting foot in Kentucky can drain enough "umph" from the Crimson Tide to allow the Blue and Whitties to slip up on the Southerners. Mark this one down as certain disaster for the Cats.

Georgia Tech

A string of versatile "Yellow Jackets" who have not yet been unleashed from their hive will not be required to show their highly-regarded defensive tactics this Saturday when they meet little Mercer College. Notre Dame, Duke, Auburn, and Vanderbilt, who are met on consecutive Saturdays preceding the Kentucky tussle, will be more than test enough for the strength of the Georgians.

Clemson

Having crippled two prowlers captured in their South Carolina Palmetto-land lair, the ravaging Tigers of Clemson college meet the valiant Vols of Tennessee next Saturday. After clawing the robes off the Presbyterian churchmen and repulsing the Tulane Green Wave, 13-10, the Tigers' worries will hit a new high when they open negotiations with the Tennesseans.

Tennessee

With halfback George Cafego carrying the greater portion of the mail, the Tennessee Volunteers pounded out a weak 26-3 win over the Purple of Sewanee. If Major Neyland's minions survive the terrific slammings of Auburn, Alabama, L. S. U., and Vanderbilt, they may be able to cope with the seasoned strength of Kentucky.

Still More Lack

"Dear Editor: This is not about the weather and it is not about the war crises, but about the Student Union Building's telephonic facilities. The building has many desirable features, but someone overlooked the fact that students need a FREE telephone for outside communication. Could the kernel see to it that a telephone booth be installed this semester?"—J. H. W.

That's All

If the social groups will excuse us for not including some of the society this time, we will carry it in Friday's edition. That old "lack of space" bug again. Andrew Eckdahl, with tears in his eyes, has asked to retain his old column head as his heart is in it. So Behind The Eckdahl comes back on the front page. The paper is made up, Hitler is in Europe (we hope) and so to press at 11 o'clock.

CATS-MARYVILLE

early in the second period when the Blues received the ball on the Maryville 45 after Hughes had out of bounds. On a well-hidden spinner Carnes lugged the ball 19 yards down to the 26. Combs was injured on the next play after picking up one yard at center and Zoeller rped in to fill his vacancy. Zoeller's first effort resulted in a touchdown as he faded back and flipped a perfect pass to Spears, sub end, who caught the oval in the end zone. Carnes again added the extra point. The half ended with Maryville buried deep in their own territory punching helplessly at the strong Kentucky mid-section.

Exactly 3 minutes were required to add the third sixpointer as the second half opened. Garner's kickoff was returned to Kentucky's 41 by Carnes. Wiegand, subbing for Davis, pumped over tackle and up to the 48. Zoeller made a first down by a four yard lunge into Maryville territory. Wiegand hit straight over center and jogged down to the 28 before being spilled by his own interference. Zoeller hit off tackle two plays later and with a 14 yard gallop crossed the double line. Kentucky's lead mounted to 21-0 as Zoeller whipped a pass to Shepherd for the conversion.

A few minutes later the fourth Cat marker was added. Combs, after placing the ball on the six yard line with a 40 yard off tackle slant, scoring on an end sweep. The try point was foiled. At this point the offensive burden was shouldered by the veteran Dameron Davis, out most of last year with severe head injuries. With the ball on the Hillbilly 45 Combs shot a pass to Davis good for 10 yards; a Davis plunge netted 20 yards and still another Davis effort, and end sweep, moved the ball over. To make the situation complete, "Hun" also booted the extra point.

Instructions For Card Section At Saturday's Oglethorpe Game

The cooperation of every student in the card stunt section is essential for the success of the venture. Please abide by the following instructions at the Oglethorpe Game Saturday.

1. Please leave the cards alone until asked to use them between halves. They are purposely tacked on the front of your seat out of your way.
2. Be sure that there is one person to a seat and that no seats are left blank. The seats have just been marked off and numbered for your convenience.
3. When instructed at the half, lean over and carefully tear the colored cards and the smaller white "program card" from your seat. Look on the white program card and be sure the number on this card corresponds with the seat number.
4. Keep the colored cards on your lap all the time between stunts. This prevents them from "flashing" and tipping off the crowd as to what is coming.
5. Look on your "program card" and see which color you are supposed to show in the first stunt. Put this color on the bottom of your pile of colored cards, and place them on your lap.
6. Lean ver forward and grab the cards in both hands on the short sides. Then when the gun goes off (you will be warned) raise up to sitting position and bring the cards smartly in front of your face so that the bottom card is showing. Hold them there until the whistle blows, then put them back on your lap.
7. Now look at your little white program card again and see which color you are supposed to show for the second stunt. Place this color on the bottom of your pile and you are ready to go again.
8. Please do not look out between the cards during the time the stunt is being put on. You destroy the pattern.
9. Please do your level best to get the right color up at the right time. The success depends on you.

REMEMBER, UP ON THE GUN, AND DOWN ON THE WHISTLE

down drive had hardly died in the Scot's mind before Davis had again transgressed their six-point land, this time with a 40-yard return after intercepting Hughes pass. The Cat scoring box was nailed shut a short time later when Zoeller swung wide around his left end and scored. The game ended with Kentucky reserves threatening to score from the Maryville 9-yard line where the ball rested after a series of passes.

Wildcats Top South In Scoring Spree In Initial Contest

With the annual football parade showing on all fronts Saturday, Kentucky's Wildcats, by tallying 46 points against Maryville, scored the greatest number of points of any team in the South.

Only Boston College, which scored 63 points against Canisius College, and Miami University (Ohio) with a 51-0 win over Alnia, Michigan, surpassed the Cats in the entire nation in the matter of points scored Saturday.

Kenning The Campus

By JIM CALDWELL

Last week-end saw the opening of what is probably the most pleasant season of the entire school year. I refer to the season of fraternity and sorority open houses. It is the time of year when the various Greek lodges throw open their doors to all comers to enable themselves to introduce their pledges and in turn have other pledges introduced to them, thus getting everybody chummy for the approaching winter formal season. It is the time of year when cookies and spiced tea and "Have you met Miss Jones?" reign supreme. It is the time of year when boy meets girl and inaugurates anew the great institution of boy courts girl and boy pins girl.

Among those sororities to all but jump the gun in getting the festivities started were the Chi O's, Alpha Gams, Kappas, Alpha Xi's, and KD's. On Friday night they placed their latch-strings on the outside, and, either officially or unofficially, proceeded to exhibit the gate receipts of a week's (or should I say summer's?) feverish rushing. All seemed to be glad that it was all over, and justifiably proud of the pledge classes that they had acquired. At this writing the rest of the pagodas of pulchritude are as yet unheard from, but judging from the smile-wreathed faces of certain Tri-Delts, they too have something startling in captivity. Come week's end and we shall see.

But the sororities are not the only organizations on this campus which indulge in the meet-so-and-so festivals. The fraternities, too, about this time swing into a succession of open houses and buffet suppers. They usually occur about dusk on Saturday afternoons, pleasantly filling in an otherwise boring interval between football game and victory (?) dance.

And so will the students of the University of Kentucky on many a hazy autumn afternoon be enabled for a few too-short hours to put away all thoughts of brow-beating courses, Alabama mailings, Hitler, Sudetens, war, and recession, and indulge in a little peace and contentment. A pleasant institution, this open-house habit. May it live forever.

This summer I had the privilege of talking to an alumnus of the University who came to school here in the "good old days" of turtle-neck sweaters and corduroy pants. During the course of the conversation he recalled pleasant memories of Halloween pranks and rock-fights with the Transylvania boys. It seems that in those days a perpetual feud existed between the gentlemen from South Limestone and the gentlemen from North Broadway. Main Street was the dividing-line, and anyone wearing the blue and caught north of that modern Line of Demarkation was subject to the most embarrassing and painful inflictions the collegiate mind was in those days capable of dishing out. Likewise was the fate of anyone wearing the Crimson who was so stupid as to allow himself to be ensnared on the South Side of that all-important thoroughfare. The said alumnus was bemoaning the fact that this bitter rivalry had in recent years been allowed to dwindle away until it is now only a fond memory. The reason for this, he fowed, was the sophistication of the present-day student and his attitude of looking at anything resembling an inter-collegiate rivalry as decidedly Rover-boyish.

However, that this ancient feud between Transy and State is not quite dead, was illustrated by an incident that occurred last week. A Kentucky freshman was sitting peacefully enough in a hang-out and apparently minding his own business, when a group of Transy boys arose, snatched his cap, and made their exit. Our boy, after trailing them for a couple of blocks down Limestone, took them to task, and as usual, bitter words followed. The freshman, being outnumbered about six to one, asked them to wait a minute while he ran across the street to summon the aid of his fraternity. They, eager for the fray, complied, and presently he returned with his allies, who, incidentally, were about half of the cheer. Needless to say, a fight ensued. It was soon ended by a well-timed blow by Dave Rogan. The boys in red retreated. Score: Kentucky 6, Transylvania 0.

But, alas, the victory was empty. The blackguards from the North Side had hidden our boy's cap, and to this day it has not been recovered. And so the freshman is capless this week. But great as is his sacrifice, we have one consolation: that doubting alumnus can no longer say that school spirit is dead in the University of Kentucky. Maybe we won't need eight cheer-leaders after all.

Speaking of feuds, just one word before I go. The other day I happened to overhear a conversation in which one boy said to another: "I'm not so anxious to go lick Hitler, but any time they want to fight the Yankees again, just let me know!" Yes sun, some people just don't know what it means to give up.
